POWERS AND PARTY ALL RIGHT.

Beached Their Yacht at Canarsie This Morning.

They Were Out All Night and Friends Thought Them Lost.

Superintendent of Boilers William A. Powers, of Brooklyn, who it was feared, had gone to the bottom of the bay together with his sons, Edwin, William and Thomas, and a party of friends during the storm yesterday, returned to his home, 124 Steuben street, Brooklyn, this morning.

He reported that the party which sailed with him yesterday from the foot of Twenty-fifth street, Brooklyn, were all safe, and that the steam yacht Edwin had beached high and dry at Canarsie, damaged about $50 worth.

Mr. Powers related his experience to several friends to-day. He said that it was a wet but thankful relief to him to find the storm would be so severe. However, before they were out an hour it burst upon them furiously.

To complicate matters the steering gear broke, and the yacht drifted helplessly about for several hours. It was with great difficulty that the craft's head was turned to the wind, and early this morning, all steam was crowded on and the yacht beached.

ACQUITS MRS. SHANN

The Jury Brings In a Verdict of Not Guilty This Morning.

She Falls Upon Her Knees as Though Offering Up Thanks.

Her Daughters Throw Their Arms Around Her and Kiss Her.

TRENTON, N. J., Aug. 21.—The jury in the Shann murder case came into court at 9:30 o'clock this morning with a verdict of "Not guilty."

The court-room was packed with spectators, and Mrs. Shann sat surrounded by her family.

When the verdict was rendered she fell upon her knees as though offering up thanks for her deliverance. In a moment she raised her head and her daughters threw their arms around her and kissed her.

The audience sat silent, and in another moment the formalities were over, and Mrs. Shann was discharged from custody.

As she left the court-room she was escorted by the great throng present, and a few shook hands with her. Her daughters and sisters now were weeping, and the whole family showed the deepest emotion.

It is said the jury decided to acquit after a few ballots taken Saturday.

After the jurors were discharged they went to the Sheriff's office, and there Mrs. Shann met them, was introduced and spoke a grateful word to each.

Afterwards she was driven in a cab to her home in Princeton accompanied by her daughter Mabel.

The crime with which Mrs. Shann was charged was the poisoning of her son, John F. Shann, April 15, last. He was found dead in his bed, and after an illness of six weeks died, presumably from gastritis.

His body was laid on a cooling board in his home and during the night the investigation was continued, and no traces of them have ever been found.

It was this suspicious circumstance which was the finding of symptoms of mercurial poisoning in what few scraps of evidence remained.

The evidence that the coroner's inquest showed that Mrs. Shann was the only one who had a ministerial medicine to her son, and who was charged with the duty of giving it, was the basis of the charge.

The coroner's jury found that Mrs. Shann was responsible for the death of her son, and the Grand Jury indicted her for murder.

She was tried in the county court, and the jury found her guilty of manslaughter, and she was sentenced to the State Prison for three years.

During the night and dismembered the body for what reason she could not imagine.

MR. MOSS'S GRANDCHILDREN.

The Dispute Over Them May Be Settled Out of Court.

The hearing in the habeas corpus proceedings instituted by Thomas R. Kennedy to get possession of his two young children from his father-in-law, Theodore Moss, came before Judge Freeman in the Superior Court to-day, but after some discussion it was postponed until next week.

The statement was made that there was a prospect of a settlement of the dispute, and for this reason the case was postponed.

It was better to settle it out of court, and as the counsel remarked that it was the desire of all concerned to reach a family settlement, further discussion on the matter was abandoned.

HELD BY THE HARNESS.

Another Horse Goes Over the Unprotected Bridge Roadway.

A horse, tumbled over the low coping on the south side of the Brooklyn Bridge near the toll office at 10 o'clock this morning, and caused a blockade which extended from the bridge entrance to within a short distance of the Tomb.

Only the harness prevented the horse falling to the granite-paved street, thirty feet below.

The horse belonged to Michael Gunther, a peddler, of 42 Rockaway avenue, Brooklyn, who was returning to Brooklyn with a load of goods. He was closely followed by Thomas Lynch, of 30 South Fifth avenue, who was driving a horse-drawn carriage.

Gunther was driving too slowly for Lynch, who asked the peddler to turn the horse to the right, and in doing so, drew the animal too close to the wall, which had a railing of iron rods and posts.

At the same time the heavy transfer wagon struck the rear part of the light wagon, and the horse fell over the railing.

Gunther, who was half a dozen bridge policemen and many teamsters as could get hold of the ropes fastened to the harness, tried to pull the animal for half an hour before it was safely landed on the roadway.

The horse was badly hurt, and it was feared would have to be shot, but it finally recovered.

The accident caused considerable excitement. The driveway was blocked from the entrance to the place of the accident by many curious on-lookers, and their way to business. The windows of the neighboring factories and stores were filled with people looking at the unusual spectacle.

The horse was hanging precariously by the slender harness and the ropes that were hastily thrown about it, while the driver, who was frightened, attempted to throw it into the street below.

Motion to Compel Her Husband to Produce Certain Testimony.

Annie T. Gilbert's counsel asked Judge Gleicher, in the Court of Common Pleas, to-day for an order to compel her husband, Audinet Gilbert, to return the testimony taken in his behalf in France, under letters rogatory, issued by the Court, to be used at the trial, which she asks to have set down for October.

Mrs. Gilbert began this action in the Court of Common Pleas for a separation from her husband upon the ground of his refusal to provide for her. They had been together with $120 worth of property, and she asked for $475 a year for her support, and declares that he refused to pay her because of her conduct in France.

Some months ago an order was granted for the testimony of a number of witnesses in France, to be used in the case of the husband when the case comes to trial. The husband asserted that the delay in bringing this evidence to this country is due to his inability to get it, and she thinks that it is about time that the case is tried.

The husband's counsel asserted that the evidence is now on its way to this country.

Judge Gleicher reserved his decision.

MEETING OF REDS.

An Anarchistic Gathering at Covenant Hall To-day.

More Incendiary Speeches, in Which the Police Are Denounced.

Anarchists to the number of about 300 held a meeting this morning at Covenant Hall, 56 Orchard street.

Obviously it was a meeting of the unemployed workmen and the hall was given to them for nothing for that purpose. A few moments after the meeting had been called to order, however, the temper of those present asserted itself, and it became an anarchist meeting pure and simple.

Having been forbidden to cross the threshold by the proprietor of that place, they next tried Golden Rule Hall on Livingston street. Failing to get in there they tried Tobias Hall on Allen street with their next effort, and then a committee was selected which waited upon the proprietor of Covenant Hall late in the afternoon.

The committee asked him for a place in which to hold a meeting. The proprietor said the hall was not for rent, but the entire building, at which they shouted their approval.

They shouted louder when he said he would put a few kegs of beer on tap for them, so that they could have free beer all day to-day. He also added that he would provide a free lunch.

The proprietor of "Evening World" reporter that he had not done all this through fear, nor was it to get the trade which formerly went to the now boycotted Wallingford Hall, which is next door. He said that he was not a socialist, but that times were so hard he could do no better for the men.

Notwithstanding this statement, just as soon as the committee had taken its departure he hurried over to the Elks' building, and there he met the committee and asked for protection. Of course it was refused.

As early as 9 o'clock this morning the hall was packed with men, and the first sign of trouble was seen in the front of the building.

Two men had stationed themselves at the door, and all those who entered were subjected to a search. The searchers were "unemployed workmen" continued to arrive in twos and threes, and soon they had blocked the hall, and then the strike.

The time the meeting was ready to be called to order Capt. Devery, who had his reserves in readiness, despatched six men to the door, and then he and his men went to the front of the building.

There were four other policemen in front of Wallingford Hall, making ten blue-coats in all that were ready to break up any meeting. The first sign of trouble was seen in the front of the building.

It was impossible to get the names of the men who were in the hall, but they were well known to those who attended the meeting. The speeches, however, were not heard, and the police were bitterly denounced, as well as the "capitalist press."

Workmen were warned to be on their guard against a repetition of the scenes which took place at the meeting, and the hall was used as a freely.

There is no emigration from St. Petersburg to the United States, and the only way to leave the country from that city.

To Discuss Cholera at Washington.

On the recommendation of the Health Department it has been decided to send a delegate to the Pan-American Medical Congress, which will be held in Washington Sept. 15.

STORM SIGNALS RUN UP.

High Northerly Winds to Sweep the Coast.

Weather Prophet Dunn still insists to-day that the rains of Saturday night and yesterday were only local showers. They were, however, more prolonged than was expected.

The cyclone which is reported as having struck the coast of the United States, and is felt along the coast of New England and the Middle Atlantic States, and its force is felt along the coast of New England and the Middle Atlantic States.

The wind at Block Island was reported this morning to be blowing at the rate of forty-four miles an hour. Its velocity here was twenty-four miles an hour.

Observer Dunn ordered the storm signals run up this morning for the high northerly winds which it is expected, will sweep the coast to-day and to-night, making it dangerous for vessels leaving or entering port.

A forecast of the rainfall yesterday was 2.48 inches. At Block Island there was a total of 2.48 inches and at Boston only .70 inches.

All west of the coast line it is fair today except in the New England States, where it is raining. The temperature here at 8 o'clock was 65 degrees, Boston 60, Washington 60. The highest point is Jupiter, Fla., 75 degrees. The lowest point is Fairbanks, Alaska, 20 degrees.

San Francisco is the coolest with only 52 degrees of heat.

Central Park has little traces this morning of the flood that swept over the grounds yesterday, here and there a little water is left.

The debris in the way of leaves, sticks, stones, etc., which have been blown down by the wind, are being cleared away by the police.

At 1 o'clock this afternoon it was decided to hold the meeting at Golden Rule Hall and to assemble en masse at Covenant Hall, 56 Orchard street.

The hall was packed at 1:30 o'clock. Among the audience were three or four women, proselytes of Emma Goldman, all of whom, it was said, would deliver addresses this afternoon.

The meeting was held at the hall, and the hall was used as a freely.
